THE SIXTH ILLINOIS COMING HOME AT LAST

THEY SAILED FROM PORTO RICO YESTERDAY AND ARE EXPECTED IN NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 14.

Make Ready to Receive Our Returning Heroes with a Befitting Demonstration.

A dispatch dated Washington, D. C., Wednesday, Sept. 7th, says:

"About 1,3000 officers and men, including General Garretson and the Sixth Illinois, left Ponce for the United States today.

Following is the notification received at the War department tonight.

"Ponce, Sept. 7.—Adjutant General, Washington: Manitoba sailed at 6:30 p. m.: on board General Garretson and staff, seven officers; Sixth Illinois Infantry, 41 officers, 1,108 men; Battery A, Illinois Artillery, 4 officers, 154 men; three signal corps men. Manitoba will stop at Mayaguez for ice. Should reach New York Sept. 14.

"WILSON, Major General."

As soon as the Sixth Regiment arrives at New York (probably next Wednesday, it will doubtless be sent at once to Springfield, where it will arrive by the end of the week. Here a few days delay may be expected, as here a final inspection will be made before the boys are mustered out of the United States service. But it is reasonable to suppose that in not much over two weeks the boys who last April marched out of Dixon untried soldiers, inside of six months shall return as conquering heroes, having had enough of the actual experience of war to try their mettle and prove their worth.

LITTLE-CARSON WEDDING.

Daughter of Ex-Sheriff Little of Lee County.

Announcement comes from Iowa City, Iowa, of the marriage on Tuesday, September 6, of Miss Lillian Gertrude Little to Henry Hays Carson. Mr. and Mrs. Carson will be at home at 927 College Hill that city after Oct. 1. The bride will be well remembered as a Dixon girl, daughter of Ex-Sheriff and Mrs. Walter Little.

Miller-Turner Nuptials.

Joseph Miller and Miss Grace Turner were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's brother, Milton Chapin in Dement town, Rev. Zendt officiating. The ceremony was performed promptly at 8 o'clock in the presence of a few relatives of the contracting parties. The happy couple were the recipients of numerous appropriate gifts, and for all a most inviting banquet was spread.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Hillsdale, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Turner of Albany, parents of the bride; Mrs. A. J. Taber, Messrs. and Mesdames Milton Chapin, Wesley Turner, J. F. Bixby, S. P. Ecklund, L. P. Taber.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, as they set sail on the matrimonial sea, have the earnest wishes of many friends, who esteem them by reason of their admirable traits of character, for a peaceful, prosperous and pleasant voyage. He is regularly employed at the Grand Detour Plow Works, and their home for an indefinite period will be in Dixon.

Omaha Firemen's Races.

The Hook and Ladder and Hose Company boys from this city, Polo and Mt., Carroll in attendance at the firemen's races at Omaha, are greatly disappointed to find that the events are not part of the great Trans-Mississippi Exposition, but a side show outside the Exposition grounds. The event is a failure financially because of small attendance, and the Polo team, which is by far the fastest there, is being suppressed in every way to prevent them winning prizes for which the National Association would be liable. The races in which this team is entered are being postponed and given up altogether. Abbott of Polo won the National championship for ladder climbing with a Princeton, Ill., man second best. Beaver of Mt. Carroll won the national championship as Coupler, and Wiler of that town second, so Illinois is leading largely.

Lee Liquor Case.

In Judge Farrand's Court today Charles Mohr of Lee is being tried for selling liquor without a license. His father, Henry Mohr, would have been brought to Dixon by Sheriff Gray who went after them yesterday, but the old man was very ill. Geo. D. O'Brien of Rochelle is attorney for the prisoner who will undoubtedly plead guilty and settle.

AS TO MUSTERS-OUT.

Matter of Interest to Friends of the Volunteers Who Want Them Discharged.

NOT ALL CAN BE SENT HOME.

President Wants 100,000 of Them for Duty in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, and Will Do His Own Picking—Gen. Miles Says the War Was Carried Out Exactly as Planned—Some Remarks on Mustering Out by Alger.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The president yesterday sent for Secretary Alger and Adjutant General Corbin and also for a list of the volunteer organizations which have not been mustered out. The conference lasted an hour. Later in the day the following was given out at the war department: In response to the request of the governors of some of the states for the muster out of their entire volunteer force the president replied in substance as follows: "Answering your telegraphic request for the muster out of your regiments I have already directed that 100,000 of the volunteers shall be mustered out of the service. This, because in my judgment that number can be spared. About 100,000 will remain, as the government now requires in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines a larger army than the regular military establishment affords. The muster-out, like the muster-in, will be as nearly as possible according to the population of the several states. The suggestion to muster out all of the volunteers from your state cannot therefore be entertained. The secretary of war has already inquired of the governors of the several states what regiments in their judgment can with the least inconvenience remain in the service. Their advices will, so far as consistent with the public interests, be complied with."

Troubles of the Mustering-Out.

The mustering out of the volunteers will be followed by vextations and troubles for officers of the regular army and for many of the volunteers themselves. This is due to a misapprehension upon the part of some of the officers of the volunteer organization respecting the property of the government which they have in their possession. The government will require that every article be accounted for. Every officer or man in the volunteer service who has charge of government property will have to account for it before he can be mustered out and paid. An instance is related of a governor of one state who received two regiments of troops. He told them they could take thirty days' furlough and go home.

Some of the Equipment Disappears.

What became of all the equipment in their possession, which is the property of the government, the United States officers cannot tell. Some of these equipments belonged to the ordnance bureau of subsistence and the rest to the quartermaster's department. Receipts were given by some one when equipments were furnished by the government and the volunteer officers who gave them will be held responsible for them. It is the intention of the war department again to supply the states when the guns and arms are accounted for, but in order to keep a straight account in the department records it is necessary to have them first returned to the government. The same rule is true of other government property.

MILES ISSUES A STATEMENT.

Head of the Army Soon in Print After Return from Porto Rico.

New York, Sept. 8.—The chief officer of the army arrived in this city yesterday with a portion of the forces used in the campaign in Porto Rico. The troops on the Obdam, which brought General Miles and staff, were the Second regiment of Wisconsin volunteers, consisting of 30 officers and 800 men, and the hospital corps from Porto Rico. Mrs. Miles, son, and daughter, were also on board.

The following statement emanating from General Miles was given to the reporters on board of the Obdam. It is in the form of a letter in which General Miles is mentioned in the third person:

"While at Porto Rico and during the voyage returning on the Obdam, on which steamer were General Miles and staff, two battalions of the Second regiment of Wisconsin volunteers, I learned the following facts concerning the Cuban and Porto Rican expeditions. In the first place, let me say that the war has closed after being conducted largely as General Miles stated publicly at the beginning of the war that it would be. The statement was publicly made and a general order was issued by him as commander of the American army, in which the plan he has striven to pursue was foreshadowed—namely, seeking to accomplish results with the least possible loss of life.

"In an interview in the latter part of May he said: 'The United States government is too strong, too great and too powerful to commit any foolish act in connection with the proposed invasion of Cuba.' Referring to the proposed rush to the fever stricken city of Havana, he said: 'No officer is fit to command troops who from any motive whatever would needlessly risk the life of a single soldier, either from disease or the bullets of the enemy. I have never sacrificed the lives of men under my command in the present campaign.'

"In the order issued to the army at an early date, he directed that: 'Every officer, of whatever grade, will so far as may be in his power, guard and preserve the health and welfare of those under his charge. He must labor diligently and zealously to perfect himself and his subordinates in military drill, instruction and discipline, and above all he must constantly endeavor by precept and example to maintain the highest character, to foster and stimulate that true soldierly spirit and patriotic devotion to duty which must characterize an effective army.' The principles thus enunciated have been zealously observed from the first." The facts referred to by the correspondent are statements of General Miles and official telegrams tending to back up the last foregoing clause.

Illinois Soldiers Welcomed Home.

Springfield, Ills., Sept. 8.—The Fifth Illinois volunteers was tendered a grand reception by the people of Springfield yesterday. Excursions were run on all roads, and large delegations of visitors from the home towns of the companies came to town. Tuesday night the Business Men's association served lunch on the arrival of the regiment, and yesterday the ladies of Springfield served dinner at Camp Lincoln. Governor Tanner and Mayor Wheeler made addresses of welcome.

ALGER EXPRESSES HIS VIEWS

Regarding the Treatment of Soldiers and Responsibility Therefor.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Now that the active war operations have closed Secretary Alger feels free to express certain views entertained by the president and himself respecting the plans of the treatment of the soldiers and touching the persons upon whom responsibility should be placed for some of the matters of complaint. He said, in part, yesterday: "As soon as we have mustered out 100,000 more or less we shall reorganize the army—every brigade, division and corps—and put them into comfortable camps until such of them as are needed are withdrawn for service in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. * * * The officers commanding regiments and companies will be held strictly accountable for the sanitary conditions of the camps.

"They are the ones who should be held responsible. During the war many of these officers disregarded the specific instructions that had been given looking to the proper care of their men. * * * Where men are incompetent to discharge these duties they must give way to competent men, for again I wish to make it clear that these company and regimental officers are to be held to account for the welfare of their men. * * * The army ration is all that is necessary for a soldier. I hope that there will be less food given to the men from outside sources. * * * The army ration today is, as it has been and it will be in the future, a sound, healthy diet.

"The great complaint of the soldiers is homesickness, and a great deal of this has been caused by the inconsiderate publications in the sensational newspapers. Some of it is also chargeable to the fact that the men entered the army with the expectation that their services would be very short. Following the depression that ensues upon homesickness come other maladies to which the homesick soldier falls an easy victim, and it is impossible to check their course. Now to my mind the American people should try to brace up these men; to encourage them and cause them to remember that they are soldiers and are expected to meet a soldier's duties. The people of this country should not be given the impression that they have sent into the army a lot of boys unfit to withstand the unavoidable vicissitudes of camp life.

"Some of the complaints that have been published are calculated to make the American army appear in a poor light to the eyes of the American people, and also to those of the nations of the world." The secretary gave an earnest assurance of his purpose to carry out strictly the decision he had announced to hold field officers responsible for the condition of their men in the case of Private Hugh Parrott, who was reported to have perished in his tent at Montauk lacking medical attendance. The secretary yesterday sent a peremptory order to Gen. Shafter to create a court of inquiry to investigate the case, or if the facts warranted it to shorten the proceedings by ordering a court martial at once.

Deaths at Camp Wikoff.

New York, Sept. 8.—Among the deaths of soldiers at Camp Wikoff were the following: Edward Secord, company C, Thirty-third Michigan; Von S. Wilson, sergeant, company B, First Illinois. Sick taken to Brooklyn hospitals: Edward S. Anderson, company E, First Illinois; Arthur M. Andretsch, company E, Thirty-first Michigan; Carl W. Peterson, company L, Thirty-fourth Michigan.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—Two hospital trains bearing 131 fever stricken soldiers arrived in this city last night from Camp Meade, Pa., and Sheridan's Point, Va. The latter brought seventy cot cases and thirty-three convalescents from regiments of Indiana, Illinois and other states. None of the patients is seriously ill.

Pensions Will Come Right Along.

Washington, Sept. 8.—No new legislation will be required to authorize the payment of pensions to the soldiers who were disabled in the Spanish war, and the widows of those who fell victims to bullets or fever. Commissioner Evans has had prepared a statement showing that up to Sept. 2 there has been filed with his office a total of 246 claims for pension on account of this war. Of these 45 per cent. are invalid pensions.

Gen. Wheeler's Son Drowned.

Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., Sept. 8.—Thomas H. Wheeler, son of General Joseph Wheeler, and Second Lieutenant Newton D. Kirkpatrick, First cavalry, were probably drowned while bathing here yesterday afternoon.

Deposed for Drunkenness.

Springfield, Ills., Sept. 8.—Major Fred B. Nichols, of Quincy, commanding the Third battalion, Fifth Illinois infantry, has been deposed from his command and put under arrest by Colonel Culver for drunkenness.

Regulars to Go to Cuba.

Washington, Sept. 8.—It is said at the war department that the troops which will be used to garrison Cuba pending the establishment of some permanent form of government there will be principally regulars.

Sixth Illinois Coming Home.

Washington, Sept. 8.—About 1,300 officers and men, including General Garretson and the Sixth Illinois left Ponce for the United States yesterday. Battery A, Illinois artillery, was also aboard the transport.

Second Wisconsin Bound for Home.

New York, Sept. 8.—The Second Wisconsin infantry, which arrived on the Obdam with General Miles, got away from Wehawken at 6:30 last night, bound for home.

First Illinois Leaves Camp.

New York, Sept. 8.—The First Illinois infantry left Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., at 9 p. m. yesterday for Long Island City.

HOOTS FOR PINGREE.

Veterans at a Camp Fire Make a Demonstration That Was Too Previous.

REFUSE TO HEAR THE GOVERNOR,

And Find After They Have Driven Him Off the Stage That They Have Made a Big Mistake—Unpleasant Incident of the Encampment—Great Annual Parade a Success—Twenty-Five Thousand in Line—Prospects as to the Next Commander.

Cincinnati, Sept. 8.—Music hall was packed to its fullest capacity last night for the camp fire presided over by Col. W. B. Melish, executive director of the citizens committee of arrangements for the G. A. R. encampment. The music was up to the high standard of other evenings as well as the war pictures by the biograph and the Syrian Arab patrol, of Cincinnati, gave a magnificent performance. Tuesday night Governor Atkinson, of West Virginia, was to have been one of the speakers at the camp fire, but he did not arrive in time to get a ticket of admission and although he presented letters and manifold other credentials as to his identity he could not pass by the stubborn policeman at the door and left in disgust before any one could reach him for identification. While one governor was shut out with a carefully prepared speech in his pocket Tuesday night another governor was hissed and hooted out in a still more disgraceful manner last night.

Pingree Attacks Army Management.

As Governor Pingree, of Michigan, was compelled to take a train at 10:30 for Detroit he was given the first place on the programme. Governor Pingree in his prologue stated that owing to imperative business he must leave, because the state of Michigan was preparing to send a hospital train through the south to gather up the sick soldiers of that state. The governor referred to the alleged mismanagement and destitution of the soldiers: "We must not place the blame upon any one man, but we can charge it upon an absolete system of red tape that is still in vogue." He cited several cases of abuse and suffering due to the delay of "red tape," and became very vehement in denunciation of such formalities at the sacrifice of comfort, health and human life.

Old Veterans Hoot Him Down.

After citing a particular case of bad management in the distribution of disinfectants Governor Pingree said: "If Secretary Alger —" but Governor Pingree never finished that sentence. He could not proceed, and even with the most persistent efforts of Chairman Melish the governor was unable to utter another word. A voice in the audience cried: "Hurrah for Alger." The cry was taken up in a boisterous chorus. The governor attempted repeatedly to proceed, but the audience refused to listen to another word. The three words "If Secretary Alger —" had left a wrong impression. The audience interpreted these three words to be the beginning of a strain of censure and criticism, and absolutely refused to let the speaker proceed.

Governor Pingree continued his efforts to resume, but this only inflamed the audience more, and soon shouts of "Amen," "Take him off," "We don't want to hear him," and the like were heard throughout the hall.

Audience Was Too Previous.

Chairman Melish made repeated futile attempts to quell the disturbance, but those who started the racket persisted in keeping it up. The governor then retired. Governor Pingree was reading his speech from manuscript. After the governor had left and quiet had been restored Chairman Melish finished the sentence which the audience had refused to permit Governor Pingree to read. It ran as follows: "If Secretary Alger had been given full power such things would never have happened." The transformation of the audience was then humiliating to all who were present. The hisses of derision were turned into cheers and repeated calls for Governor Pingree, but he had left the hall and refused to return. Chairman Melish expressed his regrets for the misunderstanding and proceeded with the programme. The succeeding speeches had the most attentive audience.

VETERANS MARCH FOR FOUR HOURS.

Annual Parade of the Grand Army Numbers About 25,000 Men.

Cincinnati, Sept. 8.—For four hours yesterday the Grand Army veterans paraded over the asphalted streets, applauded by hundreds of thousands of men, women and children. In every respect the parade was a grand and glorious success. Two ranks, six miles in length, 25,000 veterans in all, scores of bands and thousands of torn and stained battleflags were the component parts of a spectacle to which participants and spectators can look back with satisfaction a few years hence. The belief that it might be their last chance to march shoulder to shoulder is what led many of the age-worn soldiers to brave the discomforts of the tedious march.

The parade started promptly at 10 a. m., and was completed at 3:25 p. m. The average time in passing given points was a little over four hours, and the general estimate of the number in line was between 25,000 and 30,000. It was noticed that many who wore the uniform of the order were among the spectators along the line of march. Most of them did not feel able to parade, although the day was as cool and bracing as in November. The parade was purely one of the Grand Army, and the usual floats and daylight fire works and other attractions were reserved for the peace jubilee today. The Denver drum corps with fifty-three pieces and the band of Rough Riders from Dayton with 100 pieces, were the leading attractions in their line. The singers from Kansas were loudly applauded.

While the Ohio division outnumbered others, yet the Illinois department, headed by General John C. Black and staff, made an excellent appearance as the first division of the great procession. It ranked next in numbers to the Ohio division which brought up the rear. In the Illinois department was Columbia post from Chicago, with a combination of the military and naval jackets, making a very fine appearance. Post 384 from Detroit appeared with all members in Prince Alberts. The posts from the Dakotas, Iowa and Kansas displayed with attractive effect their samples of corn and grain. Outside of the parade itself the order was excellent although there were several stampedes and several private platforms broke down.

The western and central states were particularly well represented. Illinois and Ohio each had about 6,000 veterans in line; Michigan, 3,000; Indiana, 2,000; Iowa, 1,000, and Minnesota and Missouri about 1,000 each. Pennsylvania and New York made excellent showings with nearly 5,000 men each. Illinois was given a hearty ovation by the crowds by reason of the candidacy of Colonel Sexton, of Chicago, for commander-in-chief. The reviewing stand was located in front of Music hall, and here General Gobin was the center of a distinguished company. General A. Hickenlooper was grand marshal of the parade. The parade was in nine divisions.

PLEASURE COMES TO AN END.

Balance of the Encampment's Time Will Be Devoted to Business.

With the demonstration yesterday the series of festivities is almost closed and the business sessions of the G. A. R. and its auxiliaries begin today. During this afternoon there will be a civil and industrial parade of unusual dimensions, with a peace jubilee, but the business of all of the organizations will proceed in the morning and continue until tomorrow night. There are unusually hot contests for the elections among the ladies, as well as among the veterans. It is reported that Commander-in-Chief Gobin favors Shaw, of New York, for his successor. As Shotts, of New York, has not proven a formidable opponent to Shaw, the name of General Daniel E. Sickles is freely used in that connection. Sexton, of Illinois, has been regarded as a favorite in the race for commander-in-chief until the reports were circulated about General Gobin and his administration being in favor of Shaw.

General Gobin denies any aggressive work in favor of any candidate, but admits that he is an old friend of General Shaw. Anderson, of Topeka, and Mack, of Sandusky, hope to see the contest between Shaw and Sexton become so bitter that one or the other of them will be taken up as a compromise candidate. The contest between Philadelphia and Denver for the next encampment is also quite animated, with the friends of Kansas City in the hope of winning as a compromise location.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. were in session yesterday and transacted routine business—presenting reports and appointing committees. Their business sessions as well as that of the Women's Relief Corps will begin today.

At the Music hall camp fire last night Commander-in-Chief Gobin made a very eloquent address on the purposes of the Grand Army, and as he was about to leave the platform he was presented with an elegant gold watch and chain by his surviving comrades of the old Forty-seventh Pennsylvania regiment of volunteers. General Gobin was moved to tears while responding to this presentation from his old comrades. There were also camp fires at Camp Sherman, Camp Garfield and in other parts of the city.

Died of Being Too Fat.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Mary Masque, a negress, is dead in this city. She was said to be the largest colored woman in the world. At one time she weighed over 700 pounds, and at the time of her death she tipped the beam at 560 pounds. She was 30 years of age, and her death was the result of excessive accumulation of adipose tissue.

Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by Dixon people.

Read what a citizen say.

Mr. Frank King, of 522 West Third, say: I had my attention called to an advertisement in our paper about Doan's Kidney Pills. So many of the so-called kidney cures are worthless that I have no faith in them, but all remedies used up to that time failed to help me. I was like a drowning man grasping at a straw. I resolved to make one more trial. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Horton's drug store and did use many before all doubt was removed. I am pleased to let all sufferers from kidney complaint know the value of this most excellent remedy. For a number of years I was not able to do a hard day's work without suffering for it. Use what remedies I might I could not escape this penalty until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. The experience is so new and so satisfactory that I have looked for, but dreaded a return of the pains. It is, however, very pleasing for me to say that I have been most agreeably disappointed for there has been no return of trouble up to date."

ILLINOIS CENTRAL R. R.

OF INTEREST

To Stockholders.

Free Transportation to attend the Annual Meeting at Chicago. Some Interesting Facts.

In order that stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad Company may more readily attend in person the annual meetings, there has been posted in each station of the Company a notice to the effect that, in accordance with a resolve of the Board of Directors there may be issued to each holder of one or more shares of the capital stock of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, as registered on the books of the Company, a ticket enabling him or her to travel free over the Company's lines from the station of the Illinois Central Railroad nearest to his or her registered address, to Chicago and return, for the purpose of attending, in person the next Annual Stockholders' Meeting of the Company, which will be held at its General Office in Chicago on Wednesday, September 28, 1898, at noon. Details as to the necessary procedure to obtain such ticket, the date of its issue and its limit, are fully set forth on the posted notices referred to. In this connection, it will be interesting to note that since, in 1862, the capital stock of the Company became full paid, a cash dividend, ranging from 4 per cent. to 10 per cent. per annum, has been paid semi-annually to every holder of stock, and that it is now twenty years since the Company, in any year paid less than 5 per cent., the present rate of distribution.

COLORADO POLITICS.

Carried On in the Wildly Simple Western Way with Winchesters and So Forth.

FIGHT OVER A CONVENTION HALL

Results in the Death of One of the Politicians and the Wounding of Three Others—Preliminary Fusion Proceedings Are a Little Warm, So to Speak—Murder Trial to Follow—Fusion Gatherings in Iowa and Washington.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 8.—A pitched battle ocurred in this city at daybreak yesterday between the two warring factions of the Silver Republican party of this state, in which one man was killed and three wounded. The dead man is Charles S. Harris, an employe at Denver of the Gulf railway. The wounded were spirited away by their friends, and their identity has not been definitely established. It is said that a man named Palmer was shot in the cheek, but not seriously injured. Another man had his hand shot nearly off and another got a flesh wound in the arm.

The fight was waged for the possession of the Opera House in which the Silver Republican state convention was to meet today. An armed force representing the faction deposed by National Chairman Towne was sent to drive the guard out of the theatre, said guard having been put in by the other faction.

Five Men Charged with Murder.

After a hot scrimmage in which many shots were fired the Tellerites fled in dismay. Harris and the men who were wounded are supposed to have been members of the attacking force. Chairman Blood, A. M. Stevenson and other leading Silver Republicans openly charge Sheriff Boynton, of this county, and Internal Revenue Collector Frank Howbert, of Denver, with leading the attack. Sheriff Boynton states that he, Mr. Howbert, and Chief of Police Gathright did not go to the Opera House until the battle began, and then only to take possession of the place. Five men were arrested in the Opera House and one, it is claimed by the police, had a smoking Winchester in his hands. The prisoners are Walter Russell, J. W. Lupton, J. J. Long, A. C. Smith and A. F. Monge, all of Cripple Creek. They are charged with the murder of Harris and information was filed in the district court against them.

Will Make a Split in the Party.

The delegates to the state conventions of the Democratic, Populist and Silver Republicans which opened today are all on the ground. The fight yesterday morning between the two factions of the Silver Republicans, which seems to have made certain a split in that party, have improved the chances for fusion on the state ticket between the Democrats, Populists and a part of the Silver Republicans. There will be some difficulty in the distribution of the offices, as each party is anxious to name the head of the ticket and the various candidates. The Silver Republicans who recognize as state chairman James H. Blood, National Chairman Towne's appointee, and who are regarded as followers of Senator Teller, are said to have agreed upon Frank C. Goudy as their candidate for governor. The Democrats are divided between the present governor, Alva Adams, and Charles S. Thomas. With the Populists it is said that Judge Thompson, of the court of appeals, is the favorite.

Opera House Difficulty Settled.

It seems that all danger of further serious trouble between the two factions of the Silver Republicans has been removed. Yesterday afternoon members of the Blood faction made application before Judge Harris, of the district court, for a writ of mandamus compelling Sheriff Boynton to turn over the Opera House to them. Last night citizens of Colorado Springs took the matter in hand and the result was a compromise by which both sides relinquish all claims to the disputed room. By this agreement Judge Harris issued an order to Sheriff Boynton to let neither faction have possession of the place. The Broad faction has secured the Coburn library of Colorado college, and the Blood wing will meet at Durkee hall.

FUSION MOVE IN WASHINGTON.

Populists, Democrats and Silver Republicans Trying to Combine.

Ellensburg, Wash., Sept. 8.—The Populist, Democratic and Silver Republican state conventions met here yesterday in separate sessions with the object of nominating a fusion ticket composed of two representatives in congress and two supreme judges. The entire morning sessions were consumed in forming a temporary organization and the appointments of the usual committees. Following are the temporary chairmen of the different conventions: Populists, L. I. Hart, Seattle; Democrats, S. T. Ronald, Seattle; Silver Republicans, J. P. DeMattor, Whatcom.

The Populists appointed committees and took a recess until 2 o'clock, when they reassembled. Committees from the Silver Republicans and Democrats appeared and announced that their respective conventions were organized and ready to receive any communications that the Populists desired to make. A committee was appointed by the Populists to make a similar announcement to the two other conventions. Another committee was appointed to visit the Silver Republicans and the Democrats and request a joint meeting of platform committees with a view to forming a fusion platform.

Few Populists in Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 8.—Unofficial returns show that the Populist party has become almost extinct in Arkansas. It appears that they have lost Nevada, White, Cleveland and Polk counties, heretofore considered their strongholds, and have elected but one member of the legislature, that member being elected in Clebourne county. About 100,000 votes were cast in the state, of which the Republicans polled about 35,000 and Populists and Prohibitionists perhaps 15,000.

Vermont Election a Surprise.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 8.—The result of Tuesday's biennial election in Vermont shows many surprises, the Republican vote having fallen off quite materially from four years ago, whereas the party managers expected it would equal, if not exceed, the vote of 1894. The Democrats have not only made a gain for governor but have elected thirty-three representatives in 179 towns heard from, while only eleven were seated the last off year. The Republicans have elected their candidates for senators in every county.

Silver Fusion in Iowa.

Marshalltown, Ia., Sept. 8.—The Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans met here yesterday and succeeded in fusing. The platform indorses free silver and Bryan for 1900.

Following is the ticket nominated: Secretary of state, Claude Porter, Appanoose county; treasurer, Nels Anderson, Des Moines county; attorney general, J. M. Parsons, Lyon; supreme judge, W. A. Spurrier, Polk; auditor, E. H. Gillet, Polk; railway commissioner, long term, A. Hanson, O'Brien; short term, H. E. Wills, Clinton; clerk of the supreme court, Dr. E. R. Perkins, Polk; reporter of the supreme court, W. A. Ferren, Taylor.

NOT MARTIAL LAW AT PANA.

But the Mayor Turns Over the Keeping of the Peace to the Sheriff.

Pana, Ills., Sept. 8.—There is no martial law here, nor anything similar thereto. What has happened is that the mayor has turned over the keeping of the peace of the city to the sheriff, because the city council refused to appoint extra policemen. Mayor Penwell is a son of George V. Penwell, a coal operator. The Overholts aver they have names of men who, they say, in the miners' open air meeting offered motions to put them to death. No such motions were offered after union officials reached the scene, and the miners deny that such motions were ever made. Indictments may be found and Sheriff Coburn's preparations are directed especially to this contingency.

Springfield, Ills., Sept. 8.—A State Register special from Pana says that city officials, the mayor excepted, and the aldermen and many business men of the city have drawn up a petition to be presented to Governor Tanner, asking him to take action to have the deputies guarding the Springside mine withdrawn, alleging that there is no need for them, and requesting that no troops be sent to Pana. Sheriff Coburn, City Marshal Kilby, Constable Williamson, and others of Pana were before the grand jury at Taylorville yesterday afternoon for the purpose of securing the indictment, it is said, of the miners who participated in the capture of the Messrs. Overholt, operators.

FIFTEEN MET THEIR DEATH.

Revised List of the Lost by the Cornwall Bridge Disaster.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 8.—A special dispatch from Cornwall, giving details of Tuesday's bridge accident there, says the cause of the disaster will not be positively known until the divers have searched the wreck lying in the bottom of the St. Lawrence. The river is divided by Cornwall island, and the scene of the disaster was in the south channel. There are two stone piers in the center of the stream, supporting three spans of iron work, each 300 feet long and thirty-seven feet above high water. The accident centered around the pier nearest the south or American shore.

Revised lists of the killed and injured show that fifteen men were killed and sixteen injured. Killed—W. J. Cubby, Paterson, N. J.; F. F. Jackson, Columbus, O.; Louis Barmer, Johnstown, Pa.; R. L. Dysart, Tyrone, Pa.; J. D. Craig, Detroit; Pat Murphy, Toronto, Ont.; Tom Birmingham, address unknown; Dan Hughes, Cleveland; L. Lavigne, Ogdensburg, N. Y.; William Sherman, address unknown; William Saunders, Baltimore; John Clause, Caughnawaga, Que.; Harry Davis, Pittsburg; Cyril Campbell, Cornwall, Ont.; Robert Martin, Montreal. Among the seriously injured is P. Delehanty, of Elkhart, Wis., both legs cut off and one hand smashed.

The Weather We May Expect.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Following are the weather indications for twenty-four hours from 8 p. m. yesterday: For Indiana and Illinois—Fair, warmer weather; variable winds, becoming southerly. For Michigan—Threatening weather; warmer; fresh southwesterly winds. For Wisconsin—Threatening weather; warmer in southern and eastern portions; fresh southwesterly winds. For Iowa—Threatening weather; warmer in eastern portion; southwesterly winds.

CARPENTERS NEED STRONG BACKS.

Because They Do Heavy Lifting—Are You a Carpenter.

We are Carpenters, but pay strict attention to repairing kidneys. If yours are out of order, go over to D. S. Horton's drug store and get a box of Kidneoids. Take them according to directions and you will find your kidneys elegantly repaired in a short time.

What is easier?

Wm. Bennett, the Carpenter says: "I have suffered greatly with severe pain in my back and head. I had suffered with urinary disorder, the discharge of urin being very irregular, and at times very painful. I did not sleep well nights on account of pain in my back and nervousness. My general condition was far from good. In fact, I felt badly all over. Morrow's Kidneoids were recommended to me so I got some at the drug store and followed closely the directions. They gave me speedy and permanent relief from headache, nervousness, backache and urinary disorder. I can most heartily recommend their use to others."

Kidneoids are 50 cents per box. Yellow tablets, (not pills.) Manufactured by John Morrow & Co., Chemists, Springfield, Ohio.

Fruit Not Good for Soldiers.

Writing from Camp Merrit, San Francisco, Mark H. Evans, clerk of Co. F. 51st Iowa, says: "When I left Des Moines I had with me two bottles of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. The fruit out here has not exactly agreed with a majority of the boys and my two bottles have been in a great demand, so much so that it is all gone." Mr. Evans has since been supplied and will take a good lot of the remedy along to the Philippine Islands. There is no danger from bowel complaint when this remedy is used. It always cures. For sale by A. H. Tillson, Druggist.

The Dreyfus Case.

The confession and suicide of Lieut. Col. Henry of the French war office, and one of the chief witnesses for the state against Captain Alfred Dreyfus, brings the latter into public notice again.

Capt. Dreyfus, an officer attached to the information bureau of the French war department, was arretsed Oct. 15, 1894, on charge of having sold state secrets to a foreign power. Dreyfus was accused of being the author of the following letter found at the German embassy by a detective:

"Having no news from you, I do not know what to do. I send you in the meantime the condition of the forts I also hand you the principal instructions as to firing. If you desire the rest I shall have them copied. The document is precious. The instructions have been given only to officers of the general staff. I leave for the maneuvers."

Following the words "condition of the forts" were three lines of figures that had been cut out. The letter had no address or signature.

Dreyfus denied all knowledge of the letter. He was found guilty at a court martial Dec. 22, 1894, the verdict being based almost wholly on the letter which Col. Henry has confessed to have written himself; and he confesses to have committed the forgery "owing to the absolute necessity for finding proofs against Dreyfus." The tria was conducted with great secrecy. The German embassy denied having been in any way connected with the affair or of having had anything to do with Dreyfus. But he was found guilty of treason against his country and was "condemned to imprisonment for the term of your natural life in the fortress and to degradation from all military rank and honors." He has dragged out a miserable existence for nearly four years in a small hut enclosed by a high wall on Devil's Island.

While Col. Henry's confession does not prove Dreyfus' innocence, it nullifies the evidence upon which he was convicted and the French government is now morally bound to grant a revision in the case. Emile Zola has been vindicated in his work of trying to secure justice for Dreyfus; and Count Esterhazy, who was mixed up in recent developments of the case in opposing Zola, has been cashiered and placed on the retired list.—Amboy Times.

Would Compromise.

The Clinton Age makes a strong effort to keep the financial questions pertaining to free silver out of politics; but the editors will hardly make a success of it. In a recent issue we find this brief statement of the editor's position:

"The Age is opposed to making free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 a test of the voter's loyalty to Democratic principles.

"The Age is opposed to making the gold standard only the test of a man's Democracy."

This is child-like and bland, but entirely too mild a dose for Illinois Democrats and we doubt as to its efficacy over in Iowa.

The straddle is too plain. It is all very well to tell Democrats to get together whether they believe in gold or wampum for money, but the fact is that there are Democrats who know a real dollar when they see it and propose not to be bamboozled.

A Suggestion.

As will be seen by dispatch elsewhere the Sixth Illinois Volunteers are on their way home, and in all probability Co. G, recruited from Dixon and other towns in Lee county will return to their friends inside of two weeks. It is certainly not too early to commence at once preparations for such a reception as will show to the brave soldier boys that their services are appreciated by those who so enthusiastically sent them forth to do battle for humanity and the honor of the flag they have so ably helped to maintain.

How to to raise the money for an appropriate reception that shall enlist the co-operative sympathy of the largest number, and at the same time teach a lesson of patriotism to the rising generation, has been a matter of thought with some; and it has been suggested that an endless chain be at once started in the senior class of the Dixon High School; that the starter write but three letters; that the contributions asked for be five cents; and the solicitations confined to the teachers and pupils of Lee county. Such a chain would (despite its name) reach an end in a short time, and yet from the large number of teachers and pupils of the county who would patriotically respond if the matter were properly and pointedly suggested, a very generous sum could be collected and turned over to officers elected by the Senior Class. It would identify our school children, as nothing else could, with a truly patriotic demonstration. The progress of the work could be made public, and even lists of the contributors published, and the children should be given a prominent part in the reception. The suggestion is a good one, and we hope it will be promptly and properly worked out.

Dr. Johnson on Dr. Senn.

Dr. H. L. Johnson, one of the most celebrated physicians in Washington was sent to Montauk ten days ago to look after the condition of the Washington regiment which has returned from Santiago, and takes direct issue with Dr. Nicholas Senn of Chicago as to the character and management of Camp Wickoff. He said of the men:

"They looked better than I expected to find them after reading the history of their sufferings. I expected to find them skeletons, but they did have some flesh on their bones, and were clothed, but they were in the depths of despair. They had heard so many ugly stories of the camp, and had suffered such hardships previously, that they had all about agreed among themselves that if they did not get home in a few days they never would get home alive. Some of them were in a profound state of melancholy."

Dr. Senn has in interviews and newspaper articles denounced the camp as unsanitary and mismanaged, and the public is beginning to doubt the doctor's reputed skill, and to ask when he became an authority on sanitary matters. Dr. Senn has evidently been overestimated, and is troubled with the bighead.

The suffering which the publication of the infamous and scandalous falsehoods concerning the condition of the army camps has caused to the relatives and friends of the soldiers can never be computed, but it is safe to estimate that it will do much toward driving the yellowness out of American newspapers of the future.—Inter Ocean.

Steinmann College Notes.

Classes are doing good work in all lines of study. Very much enthusiasm is being manifested for the new course of study. A very pleasant and profitable feature has been introduced in the chapel exercises consisting of a short, crisp address each morning by some one of the faculty on a vital, practical subject.

The Philomathean exercises of Friday night were interesting, consisting of an able inaugural address by President Broughton, several fine selections of music by Prof. Stoddard and Mr. Fahrney, and two or three good recitations by Miss Grace Franks.

The Forensic Clubs will be put into organized shape this week. As the debates and parliamentary practice are under the able management of Prof. Todd it will form a strong feature of the term work.

The kindergarten school started on Monday with a very fine attendance of little ones. The class will probably contain three dozen. The children are delighted with their surroundings and are falling in love with their teacher. The older ones are taught to read and write, one of the best charts in progressive kindergarten work being used.

A fine chorus class of some two or three dozen will be a feature of Prof. Stoddard's work this term. This class will meet regularly every day.

The Elocution Department starts out with very flattering prospects for a good year's work under Mrs. Burnham. Many earnest students are taking up this work.

—Mrs. Theron Cumins and daughter Mrs. C. A. Todd, are in Rockford today.

—Miss Esther Walgren will go to Chicago tomorrow morning to meet her brother Charlie who as one of the First Ill. regiment will reach that city at noon. The young soldier has been quite ill.

—Ford's shooting gallery on First street is not run by John Ford, the East First street shoe merchant, as many suppose. John is the sport of East First street, but he does not take to the shooting iron.

—J. C. Griffiths, jr., special agent of W. E. Main, of Madison, Wis., was in the city yesterday and placed an agency with A. E. Simonson for the Helvetia Fire Insurance Co., of Switzerland, and for Srea of Gothenburg, Sweden. Both are old line companies.

—Lost in London, played to a good sized audience last night at the opera house, and it was by far the finest production of this drama ever given in this city. The scenery and specialties were very good. The next attraction will be Miss Sadie Raymond in the Missouri Girl. Lawrence Coughlin, formerly of this city, is in the cast.

—A copy of the Dunkirk (Indiana) Evening Star of Tuesday, September 6th, reaches our table this morning embellished with a very fair wood-cut of the familiar countenance of our former esteemed cotemporary of the Dixon Sun, Joseph T. Day, the newly inaugurated Mayor of Dunkirk. His opening address to the council is a well prepared paper, taking a comprehensive view of the situation, and a broad view of the responsiblities of his position, and gives a clear conception of the fundamental principles of municipal government. We congratulate Mr. Day and the people of Dunkirk on their mutual relation.

—The public is much exercised over the charges in the papers of mismanagement, incompetency, &c., &c., on the part of Government officials during the war with Spain. The people should take such things at what they are worth. President Lincoln, Secretary of War Stanton, Generals Grant, Shermon, Meade, Rosecrans, were abused ten times harder nnd ten times longer than are President McKinley, Secretary of War Alger, Generals Miles, Shafter, and others of the present war; and what is thought today of Lincoln, Stanton, Grant, Mead, and other abused leaders in the War of the Rebellion? It is one of the natural adjuncts of war, in all countries, and the growlers and croakers are forgotten in time.

—The Review of Reviews contains the story of the occupation of Puerto Rico, a section of the West Indies which holds most ties for this immediate section, the description by John A. Church. The personality and career of Secretary Day are described in an article contributed by Henry Macfarland. The family of the modest Ohioan comes in for a share in the sketch. The estimate of him in the article is that of a statesman of the first rank, although entirely new to that department of public life. A character-sketch of Prince Bismarck appears in this number from the pen of Charles Lowe, followed by a review of Prince Bismark's claims to greatness by William Stead. The department of "progress of the world" and editorial chronicle of the world's doing for the past month, is of uncommon interst of course in this number. The cartoons on the end of the war are a feature which no one will miss.

The Boys at Chickamauga Delighted

Before leaving for Chickamaugua Park, Ga., Lieutenant Geo. E. Bass, 52d Iowa Volunteer, procured a few bottles of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. The boys were delighted with the quick cures of diarrhœa which it effected. To meet the demands Lieutenant Bass ordered four dozen bottles more by express and sold the whole of it in one day, except three bottles kept for his own use and for personal friends. It never fails to effect a cure and is pleasant and safe to take. It is the most succesful medicine in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by A. H. Tillson, Druggist.

BOYS' SHOES!

Boys are great shoe annihilators. Customers often tell us that their boys are "hard on their shoes."

We have a special line of shoes for just this class of boys. They have double soles, good plump uppers, and are as near indistructible as anything made of leather can be—still they are not clumsy looking.

We think they are the best boys' shoes we ever saw and know that every one who buys a pair must feel satisfied, for there are no better shoes made.

An Old Resident of Lee County Removes to California.

Lafayette Reitz, one of the best known, most prosperous and highly respected farmers of this vicinity, with his wife, son and daughter, will start this evening for Pasadina, California, which place will be their future home. Seventy years ago next December, Mr. Reitz was born on the banks of the Susquehanna River, in Columbia county, Pennsylvania. In 1856, when a young man of twenty-eight he came west, settling first in Whiteside county. The following year he came to Lee county, which was his home for several years, but he returned to Whiteside county in 1860, where he cultivated his farm of 206 acres for nearly twenty years. Finally in 1881 he removed to his homestead in Nachusa township, Lee county, just east of this city, which has since been his home. He is one of the self-made men who by honest industry and the best of business methods has accumulated a competence, the proceeds of which he will now enjoy in a climate more salubrious to his advancing age. He leaves behind him a reputation for personal worth and good citizenship unexcelled, and his presence will be greatly missed among those with whom he has mingled so many years in public and social life. He certainly carries to his new home in the far west the kindliest wishes of a large number of people in both Lee and Whiteside counties.

World Wide Missions.

W. H. Waggoner of Eureka, Ill., will conduct at the Christian church, a non-sectarian, inter-denominational institute on Missions, home and foreign. The meeting will be held every evening for one week commencing next Monday night. The field to be covered is very comprehensive, and the subjects will be splendidly illustrated with a fine Edison phonograph, reproducing the music and languages of the world; 200 very interesting curiosities from Palestine, Turkey, Egypt, India, China and Japan, illustrating peculiar manners of dress, food and idol worship in oriental lands, and 1,000 feet of the largest and most complete mission maps and charts in the world, illustrating the progress of the evangelization and the civilization of the earth.

Mr. Waggoner is said to be a specialist on the subject of missions, which he has made a life study. Everybody invited.

Died of Lockjaw.

Peter Doerr of Rockford, who was on Monday night taken with lockjaw, the result of the piercing of his foot with a rusty nail something over a week ago, died in great agony yesterday morning, notwithstanding that everything possible was done to relieve the terrible muscular contraction. The wound in his foot gave him but little trouble at the time: and in a day or two he resumed his occupation: but about a week afterward, during the night, at his boarding house the trouble seized upon him violently and in the morning he was unable to speak and lay suffering agonies from the tense condition of the muscles. Notwithstanding every effort for his relief, the spasms of pain continued until the strong and physically attractive young man was relieved by death.

They Are Ill Today.

I. B. Countryman Co's store is not closed, but it is shy on clerks. Cider delicious, sweet cider, was the cause. The jug was tipped without any ill results all day yesterday, but last evening some wicked person tampered with the liquid. Ernest Farrand has time to help around some this afternoon. Dan Delaney is attending to customers off and on, but a couple of the young ladies had to call in a doctor. It was a dangerous trick.

Mustering Out for Spite.

An item is going the rounds of the newspapers of this state which states that Governor Tanner will muster out the Third Illinois National Guards for the simple reason that he does not like its colonel. If this statement is true Governor Tanner indicates that he himself is capable of doing a very small act and may himself get "mustered out," if the mustard don't give out.

Burke-Larson Wedding.

Miss Mary Burke and Martin Larson of this city will be married on Monday evening of next week at St. Patrick's Catholic church. The bride and groom will be assisted in the ceremony by Miss Louise Regan and James Penny.

From the Sterling Standard.

C. A. Sherman, of Dixon, was a business visitor in Sterling Tuesday.

R. E. Swigart, of Dixon, was the guest today of Henry N. Hanson, of this city.

C. L. King, of Dixon, came to Sterling Tuesday for a visit with friends and to transact business.

—MARRIED, Tuesday, September 6, 1898, at the home of the bride's parents in Amboy, Miss Gertrude C. Fenten to Mr. Herman W. Freese of Chicago. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Schmidt of Dixon, in the presence of a company of friends, and after the wedding dinner, the happy couple took the 4 o'clock train for Chicago.

—Jerry Miller, on the Franklin Grove road, has a fine pear orchard in bearing. He has one tree with at least six bushels of Bartletts, and other trees hanging so full that they have to be braced up to prevent breaking down. He set the trees out some years ago, contrary to the advice of nursery-men and others. Mr. Miller takes good care of his trees, as he does of everything else on his fine farm.—Amboy Journal.

—Next Wednesday and Thursday will be held in Freeport the reunion of the 46th Illinois Veteran Volunteers. The response to the Major's address of welcome will be given by Gen. Smith D. Atkins, the annual address will be delivered by Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio, and among those on the program for short speeches we notice the names of Judge J. D. Crabtree, Judge Hodson, Dr. Byers and others. Music will be furnished by the Henney Band and the Rockford Temple Quartette.

—A Washington paper notes the fact that on July 20th a Virginia postoffice was named "Hobson," which indicated a proper regard for heroism. Pope Co., Ark., on July 22 secured a new postoffice, which it called "Sigsbee," showing that it remembered the Maine and her commander. North Carolina came along on July 23 with a postoffice in Randolph county, which it called "Dewey" and on July 26 with a "Sampson" postoffice, and on the 28th Florida named a postoffice for Dewey, and Kentucky secured one named "Manila." Just what idea controlled the people of Woodruff county, Ark., in asking to have an office named "Fakes" does not appear. The favored name since the victory of May 1st in Manila Harbor has been "Dewey."

—The international conference now in session at Quebec is very likely to demonstrate more plainly and convincingly the correctness of the assertion that the interests of Canada demand closer relations with the United States. Great Britain enjoys a preference tariff of 25 per cent in her North American possessions and it is this more than anything else which hampers Canadian commerce with this country, as Canada cannot grant us equitable reciprocal tariff concessions while that preference tariff exists. It is no wonder that we hear suggestion of a repeal of that obstacle to closer commercial relations with us, and even of a Zollverein between the two countries. It would be strange indeed to see these suggestions realized, which would mean free trade between the United States and Canada and a common protective tariff of both against Great Britain.

—A delegate from the Far West to the recent Educational convention told an incident that happened to him some years ago, when he was making a trip on a pioneer stage. All one-half the first day he sat beside the driver and endeavored to engage him in conversation. The driver was not to be engaged. He was not exactly surly, but he was cold. He was distant: he wouldn't talk, and he evidently didn't care to be talked to. The stage stopped for dinner at a little eating-house, and when it rolled away again the driver seemed like another man. He talked, he told stories, he was the soul of affability. Later he explained the matter to the teacher. "I didn't take a shine to you nohow this morning," he said. "I thought you was one of these here psalm-singing gospel fellows, and I ain't got no use for that kind. But when I seen you setting there and a eating pie with a fork I changed my mind. I knowed right away you was a gambler."

—Scribners' magazine employs the interesting pen of Harding Davis and the abundant opportunities for illustrations which go with the recent war to describe the fight of the rough riders at Guasimas. Edward Marshall, the wounded correspondent, adds some episodes from his standpoint in that battle and the experience of a wounded man. A third article describes how the Spaniards fought at Caney. In the following article, a brief one, we have a description from an artist's standpoint, the scene being El Paso. A description of everyday life on a warship with illustrations from instantaneous photographs completes an interesting series on the theme which is in the minds of all. Dana Gibson gives in five pages of sketches what he sees 'of a noon-tide' in New York. Walter Wyckoff has an article on the workers, this time the experiences of a road builder on the world's fair grounds. A short story of the number is by Octave Thanet, the Conscience of a Business Man. It is a story in industrial life. Cabott Lodge's story of the revolution in this number treats of General Green's campaign in the south An article of much interest describes the Jungfrau railway.

AGUINALDO'S DARING DEED.

He Collected the Princely Reward Set Upon His Own Head.

Pancho Aguinaldo, the native dictator of the Philippines, is a very picturesque personage. He is the son of a very prominent native chief. Anxious that his boy should be educated, the chief confided the lad to the Spanish priests, who thought that Aguinaldo's influence when he grew up would help to maintain Spanish authority among the Malay population. The father is rich for a native, and Pancho Aguinaldo, after being taught in the local schools, was sent to Madrid to study theology and qualify for the priesthood. After a year or two of study the young man boldly declared he would not be a priest, but a soldier. So he was drafted into one of the native regiments, in which a few of the subalterns are Manila men, but all the captains and field officers are Spaniards.

Nearly two years ago Aguinaldo and a compatriot named Alexandro, also a lieutenant of native troops, organized a revolt in the native corps. Aguinaldo's regiment one morning while on parade shot all the Spanish officers except a few lieutenants and took to the savannas—great trackless prairies, swampy, with occasional high bits of land, called "mattes." Here Aguinaldo made his headquarters. At one time he must have had 4,000 or 5,000 men under arms of some sort hidden in these fastnesses, raiding the rich settlements whenever they felt like it. The political governor general of the Philippines, Senor Don Basilio Augustin y Davila, offered a reward of $20,000 for the head of Aguinaldo. Within a week he received a note from the insurgent chief, saying, "I need the sum you offer very much and will deliver the head myself."

Ten days later the southeast typhoon was raging. The hurricane—for it was one—was tearing things to bits, and it was raining, as it can only rain in the orient, a sheet of black water flooding the earth. The two sentinels at the governor general's gate made the usual reverent sign as a priest passed in, who asked if his excellency was in and unengaged. They answered yes to both questions. Don Basilio did not turn his head as some one entered. It was his secretary, he supposed, come to help prepare an eloquent statement upon the condition of the colonies. It was not the secretary, but the priest, who said, "Peace be with you, my son."

The cleric locked the door, and, dropping his cloak, said:

"Do you know me?"

Don Basilio did not know him. It was Aguinaldo, also a 20 inch bolo, a native knife, sharp as a razor, carried by every Malay in time of trouble. They can lop off an arm with one blow, as though it was a carrot.

"I have brought the head of Aguinaldo," the chief said, touching the edge of his jewel hilted bolo to ascertain its condition, "and I claim the reward! Hasten, else I shall have to expedite the matter myself."

Don Basilio was trapped. He had to open the desk and count out the sum in Spanish gold. Aguinaldo punctiliously wrote a receipt, coolly counted the money and walked backward toward the door. He suddenly opened it and dashed out, just ahead of a pistol bullet that cut his locks on the temple. Captain General Polavieja offered him and Alexandro a free pardon and $200,000, each to quit the colony. They accepted it and got the money, only to learn that they were both to be assassinated the next night at a festa. The two men who had undertaken the job were found dead, stabbed to the heart in their own beds. On the creese handle was a bit of paper with a line saying, "Beware of the Malay's vengeance."

Polavieja resigned and returned to Spain, being succeeded by General Augusti, formerly captain general of Barcelona.

Aguinaldo is about 28 years old. He and his companion, Alexandro, hold the future of the Philippines almost in their hands.—Philadelphia Record.

Fond of Samples.

The following experience of customers who are fond of "sampling" is vouched for by a retail confectioner: "I have known a lady—or the double of one—come into my shop and say, 'These look nice' (taking one). 'How much an ounce? No! I don't like them. These?' (helping herself). 'Twopence an ounce, are they? And these pink ones' (taking a pink one); 'are they flavored with almond? No, it's vanilla, and I can't bear it. Give me something to take the taste out of my mouth' (annexes a caramel unaided). 'Funny, I don't like it. But these chocolates are lovely' (proves her appreciation). 'Give me a quarter of a pound.' Then she lays down fivepence, saying, 'That'll be right, won't it?' and while I am weighing out the sweets collects in her mouth as many samples of our wares as she can manage to say 'Good day' with."—Pearson's Weekly.

Knew It Wasn't True.

The patriotic office boy answered the telephone. "Is it true," asked the voice at the other end, "that Admiral Dewey sunk four German warships in Manila bay today?"

"No, sir; it is not true," promptly answered the boy

"You have received positive denials then?" persisted the voice.

"Hadn't even heard there was such a story."

"Then how do you know it isn't true?"

"Because the Germans had six war ships in Manila bay."—Troy Times.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

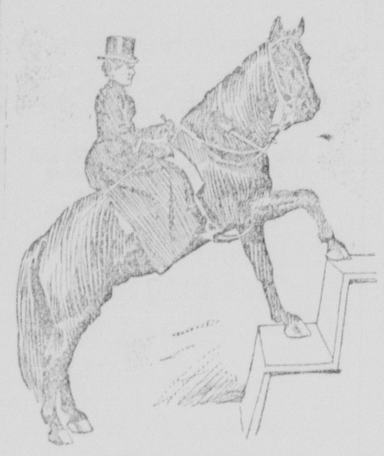
THE GARFIELD EQUESTRIAN CLUB OF CHICAGO.

The Stout Woman's Stays—A New Field For Clubwomen — Ultra Fashionable Girls—To Keep Off the Dust of Travel. Care of the Finger Nails.

There is only one equestrian club in Chicago composed exclusively of women, and so far as the members of the Garfield Equestrian club know their organization is the only one of the kind in the United States, with the exception of a club in Kansas City, which also admits only women to membership.

The Garfield Equestrian club is a flourishing and prosperous organization whose membership includes 38 of the best horsewomen in town. Each and every one of them is devoted to the sport and scorns the bicycle. "Our sport is the grandest exercise known," declares Mrs. H. E. Argo, the president of the club, and then she added, to show the superiority of the equestrienne over her less fortunate sister who rides a bicycle, "We never have to return home on account of a puncture."

The club was organized in June, 1895, although a charter was not obtained until Jan. 14, 1896. This charter was secured by Mrs. Clotilda F. Chapman, Mrs. Josephine A. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Sadie E. Argo. The object of the organization was stated therein to be for the purpose of promoting equestrianism in the west division of Chicago and for other social purposes. In each of these the club has been successful. It is estimated that the number of women who ride horseback is now three times greater than it was three years ago, the example of the club members having awakened a desire in other women to indulge in the fascinating exercise. There are others who would like to ride, but they are deterred by the expense. The bicycle has one advantage over the horse, it doesn't cost as much to feed, and there is no expensive board bill.



MRS. D. M. STOTT.

As for the social feature upon which the members of the club laid stress in their application for a charter, that has been constantly kept in view. The West Side has probably not a body of women who enjoy themselves more than do these horsewomen. When the club was organized, it was predicted that the women would not be able to manage or control such an organization without friction. This prediction has not been verified. Indeed it would be strange if women who were able to control their spirited horses, and that is not an easy matter, were unable to control themselves.

Men are not barred from association with the members of the club. They ride with them and attend the socials, for, as Mrs. Argo frankly confesses, "We would find it monotonous without them at times." Indeed the captain of the club is a man, Congressman Mills. He has held the proud post for three years, it being believed that a man would be of great advantage to the club on their long rides. But Congressman Mills has really held this position only in theory, for most of the time he has been in Washington, and the command of the organization upon its trips has fallen upon the shoulders of Mrs. D. M. Scott, the lieutenant.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The Stout Woman's Stays.

Here is another boon for the stout women who suffer from a surplus of hips, etc., and who have too much conscience or too hearty appetites to lace. Let them give ear to the new theory of lacing their corsets by which too solid flesh may be held in abeyance and yet no harm done physically.

The dressmakers have got this new device from a physician who says to pull out your corset laces as you now have them, lay the eyelet sides of the corsets vis-a-vis, as though to begin a fresh orthodox lacing, and then, taking one lacer, put it from beneath through an eyelet at the waist line on that side of the corset lying at your left.

Draw the lacer through as far as the top eyelet, run through this one and let an end four or five inches long project. Now take the other lacer and pass it through that eyelet next below the one where the other lacer first went through and draw it down to the bottom eyelet, run through and let a five inch end hang. Pick up the great length of the first lacer and begin zizagging it back and forth through eyelets on both sides of the two sections of the corset until an end hangs out opposite the first end mentioned.

With the long portion of the second lacer zigzag through the holes of both pieces of corset to the bottom, where an end must hang out opposite the second end mentioned.

When so laced up, put on the corsets, hook them and see what will happen. Simply pull on the top and bottom ends of the laces that are not zigzagged through, and the corset will first draw in to fit about the waist and ribs comfortably and without pressure. At top and bottom, though, where, over the bust and hips, the edges of stays always project and add greatly to girth, these edges will draw in perfectly tight and flat.

No discomfort will be felt, and, so lacing her stays, a woman can reduce her hip and bust measure a matter of three to five inches. In doing this the flesh is not rolled up under her chin or thrust out in ungainly lumps, because the stay is easy at waist line and over ribs.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A New Field For Clubwomen.

Every woman who crossed those treeless prairies west of the Missouri by daylight on her journey to Denver or from it realized as she had never done before the work that many western clubs are doing in attempting to provide these isolated homes with reading matter. The monotony of life in those stock farms to the wife and mother, who has not even the variety of riding over the plains that falls to the men of the family, must be little short of the insanity line. In one low house which a traveler noticed from her car window, which was made of sod—as many of these were before it became possible to get timber moved easily—there was at its tiny front window a pair of lace curtains. There was something strangely pathetic in those draperies in that rude earth made dwelling. It seemed an effort on the part of the mistress of the place to live up to the teachings of her childhood home, where the parlor and lace curtains meant company and festive occasions. The little house stood alone, a tiny island in a sea of limitless prairie, unbroken as far as the eye could reach by any other sign of human life.

To such homes one can fancy the relief which books and magazines must bring, and it is suggested to city clubs, whose members find their residences actually cumbered with reading matter in various forms, to communicate with some western club that is undertaking to distribute books and magazines to the prairie dwellers. One such organization is the Woman's club of Olympia, Washington, whose philanthropy in this regard for several years past has been noteworthy, and another is the Woman's club of Denver.—Harper's Bazar.

Ultra Fashionable Girls.

The latest fad, and one scarcely to be imitated with any profit whatever, is left hand shaking. Indeed in this fad the life of the initiated is not wholly free from carping care, for the knowledge of the fad is not widespread, and it is a puzzling situation for the ultra fashionable girl when she advances to meet a girl friend or foe with her left hand raised at a proper angle of greeting only to encounter a right hand all out of focus with her own, accompanied by a most bewildered expression of countenance. It is a trying moment for all hands, and the girl who has the consciousness of being very much up to date is really not much more comfortable in mind than is the girl who is oppressed with a sudden fear of her friend's sanity. But the very eccentricity of this fad will help it to be a go. The busy world will not spare the time to acquire the trick; hence its exclusiveness and popularity will remain for some time unmarred.

It is the correct thing this summer for women to walk with their arms hanging at their sides, and not with the elbows pointed out and swinging the arms about as heretofore. This is a good piece of news, for certainly the young women have not looked graceful, to say the least, as they walked along the city streets imitating the loose arm swing of the men. But now, when the dress has not to be held up, and when no parcels or bundles are being carried, every girl who wants to be thoroughly up to date lets her arms dangle at her side in the most ladylike and demure of fashions.—Brooklyn Citizen.

To Keep Off the Dust of Travel.

In traveling, and particularly for summer journeys, when dust is most plentiful, bonnet bags will be found very useful. Even on short journeys to keep a hat protected from cinders and dust for a few hours adds much to its appearance upon arrival. For a long overland journey such are almost indispensable. Some women buy very large sized sponge bags, their rubber linings having special excellence. For very large hats, however, it is impossible to get one of sufficient size, and a bag of any closely woven fabric is equally useful. Occasionally careful wives provide these coverings for their husband's hats as well, though this seems almost unnecessary, as men's head coverings can be readily rid of dust.

A traveler was seen recently slipping the jacket of her traveling suit into a long, light bag provided for the purpose, which, when drawn together at its mouth by the shirr string and hung in a sleeping car section, kept the jacket as perfectly as if it were lying at home on a closet shelf. This same woman had over her expensive seal and gold mounted hand bag a handsome cover of black cloth. It fitted neatly with flaps conveniently arranged for the opening of the bag. When the latter was closed, the cover strapped down so as to cover it completely with the exception of the handle. A large monogram was embroidered on the side of the cover in gold floss.—New York Post.

Care of the Finger Nails.

A few minutes given every day, once the nails are proper treated, will keep them firm and exquisite in color. After the hands are washed each morning use the nailbrush thoroughly, and then when they are quite dry push back, very gently, the skin that is inclined to grow up around the edges of the nails. Under no circumstances use a steel point to push back this skin, and do not cut it away as the professional manicures are apt to do. While the nail is still moist use the point of a file to remove any dust or specks that the brush has neglected, and then, with nail scissors, sharp, curved and kept for this purpose only, cut the nails in a shape that suits your finger tips. The ridiculously long nail, which looks like a claw, is entirely out of fashion. Use the file to make smooth the rough edges left by the scissors, and then take the least little bit of red nail paste and smear the tiniest morsel on each of the nails. Don't let it get into the edges or roots, for it is only intended as a sort of oil to keep the nails soft and to prevent their growing horny; then sprinkle a pinch of powder on the polisher and rub each nail with a quick, even stroke that will result in giving it a brightness that is refined looking, but not a brilliancy that suggests that one only shines at her finger tips. After this give the hands another bath, using hot water and a delicate soap; then close them and rub one set of nails against the other, achieving in this way a proper finish.—Ladies' Home Journal.

John's View of It.

That the crafty Chinaman may be in some measure responsible for an additional step toward mannishness may be inferred from a recent incident in the experience of a good looking young woman who walked into a laundry the other day.

"I should like this shirt waist done up in your very best style," said she in a dignified tone.

"Velly well," replied the Chinaman, with a smile. "Likee little booz on?"

The young woman looked shocked at this familiarity and said, "No, I thank you," but the Chinaman persisted:

"Missee best have little booz on. Allee ladies have little booz on now. He look so nice and stickee out. See," and he produced a waist with a stiff front, "this have little booz. That have no booz—not nice. Missee have um allee samee this one," and then she understood, and told him he might starch the front.

The stiff front has some advantages over the unstarched article. It does not soil so quickly, and is somewhat cooler, because it stands out and admits of a freer circulation of air.—Philadelphia Press.

A Power In the Land.

The woman's clubs have long since passed beyond the stage to be ridiculed or held in light esteem. They have become a power in the land, and a power for good. By their means women are everywhere taking a more earnest view not only of their duties to society and the state, but of their domestic duties as well, and are preparing themselves for that not distant day when they will everywhere in the United States, as they do in Colorado, enjoy the privileges and responsibilities of full citizenship and the elective franchise. It is both fortunate and appropriate at this time that the convention should meet in Colorado, where women from every state in the Union in which impartial suffrage has not been bestowed can become acquainted with the methods, principles and advantages of the franchise, through their own sex, in a state where it is exercised and prized by all.—Greeley (Colo.) Tribune.

General Wheeler and His Daughter.

"I haven't seen anything in years," says a woman who was down in Tampa just before the troops left to open the Santiago campaign to a Washington Post reporter, "that was so pretty as the great friendship between General Wheeler and his eldest daughter. They are more like comrades than father and daughter, and neither seems quite happy with the other out of sight. Miss Wheeler accompanied her father whenever possible and was often to be seen riding with him about Tampa and the camp. She was ready to go at a moment's notice, and several times I saw her riding along contentedly, wearing a muslin frock and riding sideways on a man's saddle. She wanted to go to the front as a nurse in order to be near her father, and I think she would have been perfectly happy if she could have ridden with him into the fight."

The New Superintendent.

Miss Estelle Reel, the newly appointed superintendent of Indian schools for the United States, resigned her position as state superintendent of public instruction of Wyoming some weeks ago and went to Washington. She has just started to attend the summer institutes of the Indian schools throughout the far west, and after that will visit all the agencies where schools are established. These visits will probably keep her in the field, continuously traveling and reporting on the schools, until Dec. 1. The methods of teaching in the Indian schools form an interesting study and cover ground not included in the usual school curriculum.—Woman's Journal.

The number of actresses who are developing inventive genius is growing. Rose Coghlan has invented an umbrella and guarantees that it will stick upright in the sand and keep the rain off anybody who happens to sit under it more effectually than any other arrangement of the same nature ever devised.

The polka dot seems to be right in the ring again. It has come to life with renewed vigor. The very newest ribbons for neckwear, belts and trimmings and the latest sashes are all in polka dot patterns. The dots so far are quite small, but everywhere striking contrasts in color are the order of the day.

Minnie Cornelius, an Oneida Indian girl and a direct descendant of a long line of chiefs, is a recent graduate from Grafton Hall, a girls' school in Fond du Lac, Wis. She is a good Latin and Greek scholar, and has compiled a grammar of the Oneida language.

Round crystal watches, showing on one side the face and on the other the works, are a fad of the hour. They are worn attached to a silver watch pin or to the chatelaine and look swell with outing suits.

If You Leave Home

For the summer go where you will find almost literally, a new world. Such a spot is Yellowstone Park. There is no place like it in the world. You would be astonished at what you see and learn there. A month's outing in those mountains 7,000 feet above the sea level, in an atmosphere pure and invigorating, would add years to your life. There are four modern hotels, good roads—maintained by the United States Government—for riding, driving or cycling; riding horses and pack trains. Geysers, canyons, mud springs, lakes, cataracts and cascades in large number, are crowded in a space 54 by 62 miles in size. If you can afford it, you wrong yourself by not going there especially if you are a patriotic American. If you cannot afford it, then go to beautiful Leech Lake in Minnesota, a new and popular resort. New hotels, fine fishing and hunting, and good boating at reasonable rates. Send CHAS. S. A DANCING GIRL'S EPITAPH.

Here I lie and dance no more.
Sayonara, sayonara!
With a tombstone for my door,
Here I keep unwonted state,
I that danced up to death's gate.
Sayonara!

Other damsels dance for you.
Sayonara, sayonara!
Sweetest flowers that ever blew;
Curtsying crocus, iris tall.
Ah, their dances never pall!
Sayonara!

Long I danced—too long, too long.
Sayonara, sayonara!
Sang for you my foolish song.
Now I neither sing nor weep,
But mid iris roots I sleep.
Sayonara!

Oh, you paid my dance with gold!
Sayonara, sayonara!
Now a better wealth I hold—
Folded buds of silver lilies,
Golden buds of daffodillies.
Sayonara!

Flags may curtsy to the sun.
Sayonara, sayonara!
But my dancing days are done.
Glad they were so short a span,
Here I sleep, oh, Hime San!
Sayonara!

—Nora Hopper in Sketch.

"Goodby.

THE YELLOW GOD.

Tom Jenkins ran his hand through the gold that lay heaped on the floor of the shack. "Seems to me, Billy," he said slowly, "that hopin to find it is better'n finding it."

Dull gleams of light from a smoky lantern fell athwart the face of the old miner, rugged, homely, deep furrowed by time and hardships and offering a marked contrast indeed to the handsome, patrician features of Billy Bailey, his junior partner.

"Findin, Billy, means quittin. It's an end to the wants an privations I've knowed fer nigh 20 year. But somehow I've come to like these still ole mountains, an the singin of the pines an the river. They've growed like friends, an I'm never lonesome among 'em. Listen, you can hear 'em now. Maybe it's the las' time they'll ever sing fer me."

"We're goin back to civ'lization," continued Tom, unheeding the other's lack of sympathy with his reminiscent mood, "an that means separation. I know you like me, Billy. A feller couldn't want a better pardner than you've been fer the two year I've knowed you. But with your eddication, an your young blood, an your ambitions, you ain't my kind in civ'lization. We can't be the same down there. I couldn't expect it. But I think a powerful deal of you, Billy. I"—

"Oh, come, Tom," broke in his companion impatiently, "you're in the dumps tonight. Take a drink and brace up. Should think you'd look on the bright side of things now. We've worked and starved in these cursed wilds for gold until at last we've got it. Think of the city's 10,000 pleasures that this stake can buy for us. There's no life in these d——d solitudes. It's there in the crowded streets, and it can all be ours when we've got such a god—the god of gold—to see us through."

Billy laughed gloatingly in anticipation. Then once more he fixed his eyes, with a glittering intensity, on the yellow heap, which meant for him all that life can mean to a selfish, love lack nature.

"But it ain't fer me," persisted Tom. "I'm past them things. If it wa'n't fer the hope of findin the old woman down there in Frisco an makin her comfortable, I'd stay. I don't care fer the gold after all. I've found it, an my hungerin fer it's satisfied."

Billy made no answer. He had long since become resigned to the diversity of their tastes, and tonight he was in no mood for argument. He got out some materials and began to repair a rent in his coat. Tom rose presently and dumped the nuggets into a gunny sack. Then he arranged his blankets for the night.

"Put it away safe, Billy," he said jocularly. "We're already on the edge of civ'lization an must learn to be pertickler."

"I'll look after it, never fear," said the other shortly. "Good night."

Billy finished his task, but his mind was still busy with thoughts of the future. He rose and stepped out into the night. At his feet the turbulent river rushed blackly along, its foam crests gleaming like dull silver in the clear starlight. Behind him towered in silent majesty the rugged, wooded mountains. The air was heavy with the breath of the pines. But Billy saw none of the beauty of the night. The mountains awakened memories of hardships and hopelessness, the river was only a highway to civilization. He lit his pipe and began to pace up and down the shelving shore.

There was none of the stuff of which heroes are made in Billy Bailey's composition. Had the fates seen fit to continue their kindly beginning he would probably have developed into one of the horde of whited sepulchers that so largely make up what the world is pleased to term the respectable of humanity—those who observe the conventions to the letter, indulge every desire with a studied care that wins the approval of men, and, dying, are respectfully buried and speedily forgotten. On the contrary, fate had preferred giving Billy a chance to prove his mettle. His college career cut short by the melting away of his father's fortune, he awoke one morning to find himself face to face with the world, his wits his only capital.

He remembered tonight his struggles to maintain his social position, the slights heaped upon him by erstwhile boon companions, the gradual sinking away of hope until, with starvation staring him in the face, he had shipped in a vessel bound "round the Horn." On his lips were curses for the friends who had failed him, in his heart resolve some day to retaliate. He recalled his hardships on the western frontier, his final falling in with old Tom Jenkins and the hopeless search for gold until a week ago, when the gravel of a dried up mountain stream unexpectedly yielded them their little fortune and ended for him the hell on earth existence in these solitudes. His future course was plain. Mercilessly he would engage in the war for wealth. His heart must know but one love—the love of gold.

And the stake, it was not so much after all. If he only had Tom's share too! The thought startled him, and he looked furtively about as though already under surveillance. Well, why not? What was Tom to him now? The old man cared nothing for gold. He had said as much. Why not begin the task of wealth gathering tonight and double his fortune by a single coup? The skiff was all ready for the morrow's journey down the river. He could easily reach North Fork by daylight, and miles of distance would lie between him and Tom before the latter could make the trip across the almost impassable mountain trail. He weakened for a moment as he thought of Tom's almost motherly solicitude, of how throughout their wanderings the big hearted miner had borne the brunt of the struggle. Even when the treasure was discovered the old man's first words were, "I'm glad for your sake, Billy." Then he asked himself if he, too, was growing sentimental, and tonight, of all nights, on the very eve of battle.

He walked back to the house. Tom was fast asleep. The flickering light of the lantern fell aslant the corner where he lay, his powerful form half swathed in the tattered blankets, his brawny arms thrown above his head. The face, from which sleep seemed to have smoothed away the deep furrows, mirrored the rugged honesty of his heart. But the touching picture meant nothing to Billy, who watched the sleeper for an instant, and then proceeded to put his cowardly scheme into effect. It was but the work of a few minutes to gather together the things necessary for the short journey down the river and to secure the treasure for safe transportation. There was a look of cunning triumph on his face as he completed his preparations. He was thinking of the surprise awaiting Tom, who had been "fool enough to believe in human friendship."

He made a cautious step toward the door of the shack, when a slight noise, real or fancied, caused him to glance back over his shoulder. The next instant the bag of gold crashed to the floor, while Billy sank on his knees, as though felled by a blow. Tom was sitting bolt upright in bed, his revolver leveled at Billy's heart.

The two gazed at each other a moment in utter silence. Billy's eyes, fixed with the penetration born of despair, scanned the old man's face and read there reproach and pity rather than a thirst for swift revenge. This somewhat reassured him, and he rose to his feet.

"Well," he said bluntly, "what do you intend to do?"

"So," said Tom with a long breath, "I wuz mistook in you after all. To think that I gave you my friendship an you wan't worth it. What be I going to do? What do men usu'lly do when a pardner turns thief?"

"You wouldn't shoot me, Tom?"

"Why not? Men's been killed fer less 'an this, an the world wuz well rid of 'em."

Then it did mean death.

As Billy realized this his face turned ashen pale, while a palsying terror struck through him, rending his bravado mask and revealing him as the pitiable dastard he was. He cowered before the old man, pleading hysterically.

"Oh, spare me, spare me, Tom. You said you cared nothin for gold, while I—I was mad with love of it. It is my god—my heaven—my everything. But take it, take it all—only give me my life—Tom—I—I—can't—die."

"Git up," commanded the other coldly. "Don't make me despise you worse'n I do. What would you do if you wuz in my place? Shoot, wouldn't you? You'd kill me now if you had the chance."

"But think, Tom, what life means to me. I'm young and"—

"Think what friendship meant to me, Billy. I'm old."

In the momentary silence that followed the pines and the river could be heard singing their old, old song, unheeding of the strife of mortals for a scrap of the treasure they guarded. Tom heard the song, and his bitterness seemed to go out with the weird melody. The hand that held the weapon dropped listlessly to his side.

"I'll spar' yer life," he said hoarsely. "You kin go."

Billy stood a moment as though he had not heard.

"Yer free. Go!" said Tom.

The boy glanced from the old man to the bag of gold and then turned slowly toward the doorway.

"You better take yer pile now," said Tom quietly, "as I reckon you won't be comin back."

"Do you mean it?" gasped Billy.

"Certainly. Half's yourn, ain't it? There's only one thief in this camp, an —it ain't me."

Tom proceeded to open the bag and roughly divided the contents.

"You can take the boat; that goes with your half. As fer me," he added in a voice that wavered in spite of himself, "I'll do what I'd 'a' done if you'd 'a' robbed me. I'll stay awhile longer with the mountains an the river. They're uncertain sometimes, an sometimes they're dangerous, but mostwise they're better'n men."

Billy vaguely appreciated the nature of the man with whom he was dealing, yet he felt that such nobleness required some acknowledgment. He sprang forward and tried to grasp the old man's hand.

"No, no—not that!" cried Tom fiercely. "Don't touch me. The gold is yourn. Take it an go. But go quickly, Billy—fer God knows—I'm only human."—Leavenworth Macnab in Argonaut.
